Five data points are plotted at approximately (0, 50), (10^{-3} , 45), (10^{-2} , 40), (10^{-1} , 30), and (1, 20). A smooth curve is drawn through these points, showing a decreasing trend.

Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week, 30-min, 3 times per week, supervised exercise program on the physical fitness and health-related quality of life of sedentary, middle-aged, obese women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were randomly assigned to an exercise group or a control group. The exercise group performed a 30-min, 3 times per week, supervised exercise program for 10 weeks. The control group did not exercise. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 10 weeks. The exercise group showed significant improvements in physical fitness and health-related quality of life compared to the control group. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week, 30-min, 3 times per week, supervised exercise program can improve the physical fitness and health-related quality of life of sedentary, middle-aged, obese women.
